End of Term

As Term 2 draws to a close I would like to thank all the members of our school community for their support during the past term. Tooleybuc Central School is a very special place where students all work together to achieve their personal best. This couldn't be achieved without your support from home. Thank you to all the parents who support their children and as a result, our school.

We must also thank all of our teachers and administration staff for their efforts. We are lucky at Tooleybuc to have such hardworking staff whose core purpose is supporting the students of our school.

Thank you all members of our community who support our school.

Reports

Students will today receive their reports for their first semester of work. I have been extremely pleased with the progress our students are making. Nearly all of our students are working hard to ensure they maximise their potential. Take the time to read over your child's report with them. Discuss areas they are excelling in and how they can continue to improve. If you have any questions about your child's report, please contact their teacher.

Holidays

Students will return to school on Tuesday the 19th of July. We wish you all a safe and happy holiday and look forward to joining you in Term 3 to continue on our educational journey. The school office will open on Monday 18th of July.

Our Value for Week Eight was Care. Congratulations to the following students who have demonstrated this value:

Kindergarten/Year 1: Tara Andrews
Year 2/3: Tane Heritage
Year 4/5/6: Eden Zanker

Our Value for Week Nine was Fairness. Congratulations to the following students who have demonstrated this value:

Kindergarten/Year 1: Jack Ogle

Reports / Portfolios

Today you will receive your child's Semester One Student Report. It outlines all the reporting and assessment that has occurred this semester for your child. Please take the time to go through the report thoroughly and discuss it with your child. If you have any queries please make an appointment with your child's teacher early next term.

Student Portfolios will also go home today. This folder contains samples of work completed this term. Please take the time to go through this folder and talk with your child about their progress. They are due back in the first week of Term three.

Year 2-3

The study of 'The Bugalugs Bum Thief' is now completed. Students found this a very humorous story and could only use a particular word in the classroom when talking about the text. During the last two weeks, students have been engaged in reading a variety of short texts of different genres. Students have discussed these texts at length and have raised many questions about them.

Questioning in one of the 'Super Six' reading comprehension skills that students have been practising over the term. Questioning is a skill that all people do automatically before, during and after they read. Students have become more aware of just how much they actually use this skill.

Over this term, students have also been continuing to practise writing well-constructed sentences during our 'Sentence a Day' time. During this time, students practise writing statements and questions and must be able to identify each type of sentence as well as be able to make sure their sentences are grammatically correct. They must also ensure spelling and punctuation is correct too.

Tamara-Jade Dastey and Brees Blachford writing sentences.

Natalia Smith and Tane Heritage writing sentences.

The students enjoyed giving their oral presentations about a collection that they have. The items in some of these collections were unusual and certainly very interesting. This gave the other students a chance to see just what other people like to collect.

In Week Six, the Year 3 students had the opportunity to meet and work with Narelle Oliver. Narelle is an author/illustrator who came from Queensland to work with the students. She was invited to the district as part of a Country Area Program initiative called 'iEnviro'. This initiative is allowing all students in the primary school to learn more about the environment and look after it. Narelle's books feature many environmental aspects. Her illustrations are lino prints which the students were able to look at and then experience how to make them. Year 3 students joined with Year 4 students for the day.

Year 3 eager to start on their lino prints.

Parent Tips

Next semester students in Year 4/5/6 will begin blogging with the Department's 'blogED' software.

The DET blogging tool - blogED

As part of its ongoing commitment to enhanced student learning outcomes through the use of technology the NSW Department of Education and Training (DET) has developed a blogging tool known as blogED. BlogED was developed in accordance with DET policies and guidelines and has incorporated feedback from students, teachers and parents.

Students access blogED through their DET student portal. When using the DET blog students are able to:

- use the same login they use for email and Internet browsing
- experience the same filters that are currently applied to the use of email and Internet browsing
- be guided by current permission forms regarding confidentiality and privacy
- be protected by DET standards of acceptable use of online communications.

What is a blog?

A blog (an abbreviation of weblog) is a personal website, organised like a diary or journal, which shows the author's most recent additions first. It enables the author to write regular entries expressing their view of events. Depending on the permission levels set for a blog, the readers (audience) of the blog are able to 'post' to a blog or 'comment' on a post. For some blogED types moderation is mandatory.

What is an educational blog?

An educational blog is an online journal where a student writes (makes posts) about their learning, which may be commented on by other students, the teacher or a wider audience as approved by the teacher. Students can add, link to or embed copyright compliant media such as photographs and videos to their blogs. DET blogs can only be set up by teachers. Teachers are able to moderate posts and comments on the blog.

Why use blogs in education?

Some of the main benefits of using blogs for teaching and learning are:

Engagement - students are familiar with online communication and are motivated to learn with online tools.

Audience - feedback adds authenticity to the learning activity. Students and teachers across all subject areas can find an appropriate and wider audience for their blogs. This may include at their choice, other students in the class or school, parents, students from other schools, and experts in the field from around the world.

Responsibility for learning – students are able to articulate their own learning in a blog and to strengthen a sense of ownership of the contents.

Learning communities - students and teachers can connect through their blogs, so they can read and comment on one another's understandings and opinions, and answer one another's questions, developing a network of support for learning.

Literacy skills - writing to communicate ideas, and integrating images and other media is integral to blogging.

Digital literacy - blogging combines technical and communication skills, which are entry level skills for most careers.

Critical literacy - students learn to evaluate and assess the credibility of what they read online, especially in other blogs.

Using a blog as a learning tool also makes it possible for parents to read and comment on their child's work (if the blog is made public). Blogs can allow parents to gain a deeper understanding of the explicit teaching and learning in which their child is engaged.

Secondary News

Melanie Hunt (Head Teacher)

Subject Selections

Planning for next year is already taking place. Students from Years 8 -10 have been involved in discussions with staff and parents about which subjects they will be interested in for the upcoming year.

Condom Dialogues

Senior female secondary students attended a production entitled "Condom Dialogues" throughout the week. Students gained a valuable insight into the importance of sexual health and ways females can protect themselves.

Football Netball Day

For the last day Tooleybuc will host Balranald in football and netball challenges. I'm sure our Tooleybuc champions have triumphed over our visiting friends.

Mathematics

The marvellous Mathematicians of Year Eight have had a productive term. Over the course of the term they have learnt about algebraic techniques, how to solve equations, ratio and revised angles.

Throughout that time the students have demonstrated a commitment to the subject and enjoy engaging with different technologies. Over the term students have manipulated the animation making tool of Xtranormal, made a short film using Animoto and used Moodle to access interactive tools. The focus next term switches to measurement, a variety of topics will be studied including Pythagoras' Theorem, Circles and Area. Over the course of the term students will be using Edmodo to access their work. Edmodo is a social networking tool for schools and gives students the opportunity to engage in Mathematics in a collaborative way. I encourage all students in this class to continue regularly revising all work.

The students of Year Nine have accessed the different topics of algebra, rates, ratio and area. Students have been using their own Moodle site to help them engage with the content being studied. Students in this year should continue to access Mathletics to help improve their understanding of the topics being studied.

The students of Year Ten have been extensively using their own Moodle site to help develop their understanding across the term. Students have been given the opportunity to study topics of perimeter, area and volume, ratio and rates and congruency and similarity. Students in Year 10 should ensure that they are regularly study all concepts and complete past School Certificate papers.

Our senior mathematicians have been working conscientiously across the term - they have studied a number of new and interesting topics and applied themselves diligently. Our Year 12 students need to make sure they are actively studying all topics and regularly completing past paper questions as they work toward the HSC.

Ancient History

Students in Year 12 have been working on Spartan Society and the Greek World to 500-440BC. Students have been working hard on analysing sources and developing their exam answering techniques. As a focus over the last couple of weeks students have been utilising the Edmodo site to help develop their historical understanding. Students should continue to develop their exam techniques by answering past papers and submitting them for feedback.

Career News

Year 10 Careers

All students are reminded to get their work experience forms signed over the holidays after contacting their employers as these are due back to school Week 1, Term 3. Well done to those students who have already handed these in.

Coming Up

All Year 10 are invited to the Grow Your Career Day at SuniTafe, Swan Hill, Wednesday Week 1, Term 3. This should provide valuable information about future career possibilities.

Year 11

Three of our Year 11 students are currently completing SBA. I recently visited workplaces for some of these students. The Truck Specialist employing Brandon Monk gave a most positive feedback on the programs and were highly impressed with Brandon's efforts. Well done Brandon.

A truly hands on experience for all!

Art Programs will include examining the “blue suitcase” from the Elaine and Jim Wolfensohn gift plus creating artworks.

Remembering the delights of handling works of art when he was a boy, Jim Wolfensohn purchased museum-quality artworks for the enjoyment of children throughout Australia. This unique exhibition from the National Gallery of Australia features art objects that can be handled, unlike traditional art works. The Blue Case, Technology, showcases the works of six contemporary Australian artists and designers. The works of art on loan from the National Gallery can be handled, explored, examined and enjoyed.

WASH YOUR HANDS TO AVOID GASTROENTERITIS

Murrumbidgee Local Health Network is warning people to take extra hygiene precautions to avoid gastroenteritis.

Infection Control Consultant Sharon Maher said gastroenteritis outbreaks tend to rise during winter and early spring.

“A number of different bugs can cause gastroenteritis but in winter it is often caused by a highly infectious viral strain which can affect millions of Australians,” Ms Maher said.

The norovirus causes symptoms including nausea, vomiting, diarrhoea, fever, abdominal pain, headache and muscle aches.

“Viral gastroenteritis is highly infectious and is most often spread through direct contact with an infected person.

“The norovirus can also spread through indirect contact with contaminated surfaces, even through food prepared by a person who has the infection,” she said.

Ms Maher said people who may have gastroenteritis should:

- delay visiting family and friends who are in hospital or aged care homes
- not prepare food for others until 48 hours after the symptoms have gone
- drink plenty of fluids to maintain hydration
- continue to wash their hands with soapy water before handling food and after using the toilet
- children should not attend school or childcare until 48 hours after the symptoms have gone

Symptoms of norovirus gastro can take a day or two to develop and usually last one to three days. The vomiting, diarrhoea, fever and loss of appetite can lead to dehydration, which needs immediate medical treatment.

For more information talk to your General Practitioner, or read the NSW Health fact sheet available online at <http://www.health.nsw.gov.au/factsheets/infectious/gastroenteritis.html>

HELP YOUR TOWN STAY ON ITS FEET WITH TAI CHI

Tai Chi is becoming increasingly popular across Australia and the world as a regular exercise to promote independent living and prevent falls.

The Murrumbidgee Local Health Network is recruiting an extra 20 volunteer leaders to improve access to Tai Chi locally.

Falls Prevention Coordinator Niccola Follett said the program has been a success for several years. "We have seen some amazing results from all ages as a result of the volunteer led classes," Ms Follett said. "Participants can gain stronger muscles and an improved sense of wellbeing, especially in communities where there are limited options for older people to participate in falls-safe activities," Ms Follett added.

Feedback from volunteer Tai Chi leaders has shown the benefits go beyond the participants.

Tai Chi leaders state the experience of volunteering as a leader of the program as rewarding and they encourage more people to do the same in their communities.

66 classes are held weekly throughout Murrumbidgee Local Health Network and it is hoped the new leaders will improve access in smaller communities.

Training for new leaders will be held on 19 - 21 August in Wagga Wagga at the subsidised cost of $50 which covers the course, accommodation, meals and program resources.

MEDIA RELEASE

WAKOOL ADOPTS BUDGET

Asset Management and development of the Local Environment Plan (LEP) are the key priorities of Wakool Shire Council's 2011/2012 Management Plan.

Council met on Monday in a Special Meeting to adopt the 2011/2012 Management Plan with a 'business as usual' approach adopted in preparation for the implementation of the new Integrated Planning and Reporting Framework in 2012.

'The 2011/2012 Management Plan reflects Council's focus on improving financial sustainability and asset management,' Wakool Shire General Manager, Bruce Graham said.

'The aim is to have sufficient working capital so that Council is in a position to implement Vision 2022, which is Council's long term strategic plan for Wakool Shire. Vision 2022 is being developed over this year with input from the Wakool Shire community, Councillors and Council staff and is part of the new planning process to be implemented from July 2012,' he said.

Mr Graham added whilst the Management Plan and Budget is predominately business as usual, there are several key projects and initiatives highlighted for the coming financial year.

'The development of Council's asset management plans is a big priority. It is most important that the Shire maintains its focus on the infrastructure renewal task – roads, bridges, halls, community facilities, and water & sewerage infrastructure – so that it can continue to provide these assets for the benefit of the Wakool Shire community,' he said.

'Equally, this budget reflects our focus on finalizing a strong Local Environmental Plan (LEP) that will facilitate development throughout the shire,' he said.

The Management Plan also confirms a continued investment into the rural road network including construction, sealing, maintenance and vegetation control.

'Wakool Shire has a large road and bridge network, so it is important to focus on the maintenance and upgrade of this key infrastructure,' Mr Graham said.

The program of works and general service provisions in the Management Plan are based on a rate revenue increase of 2.8 percent in accordance with the State government's rate peg.
